

DR. GEO. D. ADAMS ASKS FOR DIVORCE

Former Pastor of Chestnut St. Baptist Church, Now in N. Y., Refuses Comment

The Rev. Dr. George D. Adams, for ten years pastor of the Chestnut Street Baptist Church, and for the last two years pastor of the First Church, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., is suing for divorce.

Suit was entered on November 24 of last year, but it only became public today.

An affidavit to the estrangement was a dramatic prayer meeting in the church, at which the congregation was told of the trouble in the pastor's family.

Dr. Adams was located in Mt. Vernon today and refused to discuss the divorce action, as did his attorneys and those of Mrs. Adams.

Testimony in the case was heard last October before a master in New York city. Friends of Mrs. Adams say she will not contest the action.

The fact that the divorce action had been filed became known when court records showed that on October 1, Supreme Court Justice Finch had signed an order referring the case to a referee.

"There are enough people throwing mud at the church already," Dr. Adams said in refusing to discuss the case.

Dr. Adams occupied the pulpit of the Chestnut street church for ten years. During that time the congregation increased from approximately 600 to more than 1000. In addition to his pastoral work Dr. Adams found time to conduct Bible classes at the University of Pennsylvania and to serve as a member of the board of directors of the University Y. M. C. A. and of the Baptist Publication Society.

Born in Sherburne, N. Y., Dr. Adams attended Colgate University and later was graduated from the Hamilton Theological Seminary, attached to the university. His first charge was at Amsterdam, N. Y., and from there he went to Des Moines, Ia., to be the president of the City College. From Des Moines he was called to Brooklyn, N. Y., where he remained for five years, coming from that city to Philadelphia.

Dr. Adams has two children, a son, Durward C. Adams, who went to France with an ambulance unit, and a daughter, who is a student at the Mount Vernon High School. The family lived at 4223 Larchwood avenue, in this city.

Webster's Resignation is Accepted

The resignation of George S. Webster as chief of the Bureau of Surveys was accepted by Director Caven yesterday, and Mr. Webster entered upon his new duties at once, as a member of the board of engineers of the Pennsylvania and New Jersey Delaware River Bridge Commission.

The Duty of Credit

Every seed that is planted, every hour of labor that is expended on production of raw materials represents effort to increase the resources of the world. Between production and final application to mankind's needs of the fruits of this effort there may be an interval of months.

The highest duty of credit is to finance this element of time in the processes of production and distribution.

A Surprise in Foot-Comfort

WE carry Educator Shoes—the shoes you have seen advertised in the magazines for years—because we know they will prevent foot-ills—the corns, bunions, callouses, ingrowing nails, weak arches, etc., that come from wrong shoes.

For Educators are shaped scientifically to give room for all five toes to serve you unhampered. They "let the feet grow as they should," never bending or crumpling the toes.

Come in and try on Educators. If you have thought a shoe can't combine good looks with good sense, a surprise awaits you. You'll decide to get Educators for all the family.
